Celebration

Good Times

Mark Jones, Student Body President, rallies the crowd at an outdoor assembly.

Variety Spices Life

ith special friendships and school activities, Marcos de Niza students experienced some of the best times of their lives.

Participating in spirit assemblies and going to home football games were some students' ideas of fun while others preferred to be involved in a variety of clubs. School involvement and good times had always been a highlight of Marcos student life.

Spirit week before Homecoming also expressed the good times spent on campus. Each day was given a theme such as "hippie day" or "toga day". Students could also portray their favorite character or person on "hero day". Others participated in Mock Rock where favorite stars were imitated.

On weekends and after school, students enjoyed spending times with friends at the local fast-food restaurant or a night on the town. Others worked at various jobs around the Tempe area trying to earn a few extra dollars. Although there was a variety of age groups and interests at Marcos, students also enjoyed the time spent in different classes.

Teachers gave the incentive to do well and to be optimistic in spirit and attitude. Teachers have shown that they care about their students and about the image Marcos portrayed to others. The good times spent at our school will be the memories that last forever.

Celebrate

Spirit

Excitement of a close football game causes fans to stand up and cheer.

Loyally Enthusiastic

P-A-D-R-E-S! Students yelled to cheer their team on to victory, whether it was football, basketball, soccer, or any other sport. The students were filled with the Padre spirit! Padre fans could be heard for miles around cheering and chanting for their team. Feet stamping, hands clapping, voices screaming, all of these things showed how much enthusiasm our school had, and that all of Marcos supported their teams all the way.

Of course the Marcos students did not show their spirit only on game nights. You could also see the spirit of a Padre on special like: "hippie day", "toga day", "hero day", and "brown and gold day" where students took advantage of showing their love for Marcos. Some students even dressed up for Halloween.

The Padre spirit was kept alive at all the spirit assemblies and pep rallies. The students cheered, chanted, and screamed so loud, the building shook with excitement. They really brought the gym down!!!

You could see the Padre spirit simmering inside the student by the fire in their eyes!

Dana Zbacnik, Stacie Peralta, and Shelley Peterson, join the rest of the crowd in chants and cheers of Padre Pride.

Pommies Lisa Cleland and Kelly Ray stand ready to strut their stuff at a half-time show.

Angie Rodriguez, Jolene Coleman, and Michelle Hawthorne cheer their team on as the Padres score once more.

Friendship

Reach Out And Touch Someone

Friendship. The highlight and just one of the many rewards of a relationship that is special and unique to each individual person on the high school campus of Marcos de Niza. Friendship consists of a variety of feeling and wide ranged emotions. Describing friendship is difficult in that it varies from person to person. But here are just a few ideas of what that special bond called friendship really is

When you do not know where to turn, who is always there to show you the way?

Who tries to see things from your point of view even when no one else will?

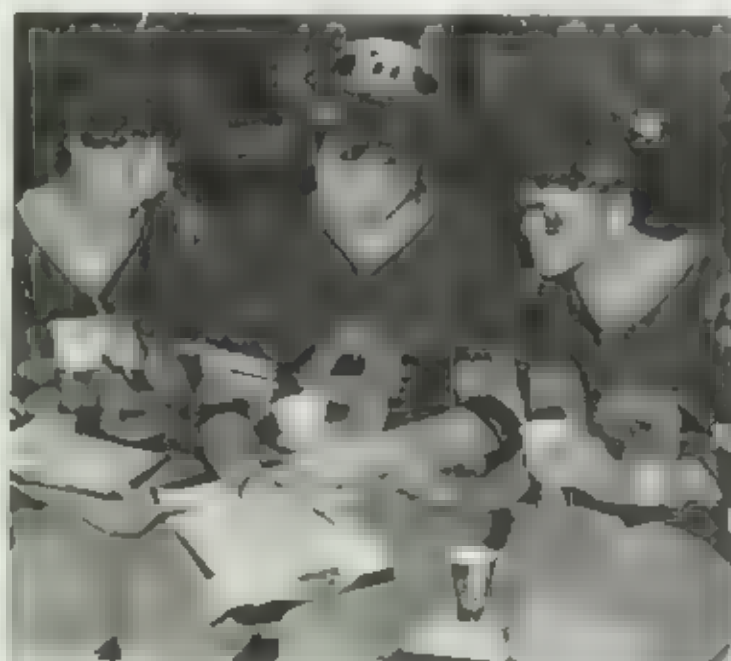

Who is your super secret keeper, the one you tell everything to?

Who listens the best because they care the most?

Who makes good times better when they are with you?

Who is always around and does not let anything get you down?

And who do you have beautiful memories to look back on with?

Memories

Camie Behrens, Shannon Smith, Jamie Downing, and Leesha Willard gather together to tell the events of their day.

The Way We Were

igh school was a time for learning, making friends and having fun. It was also a place where memories were made

Marcos de Niza could provide everyone with some type of fond memory. Memories of lunch and classes with friends, football games, and prom dates were a few examples of high school life that resulted in memories.

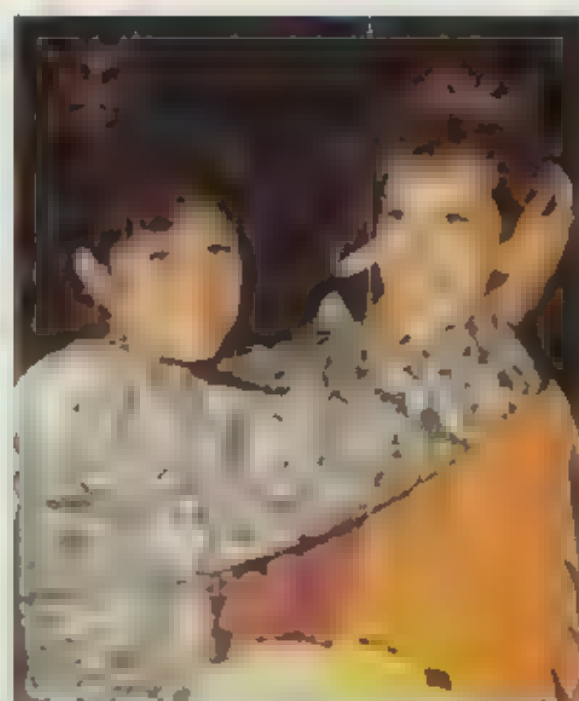

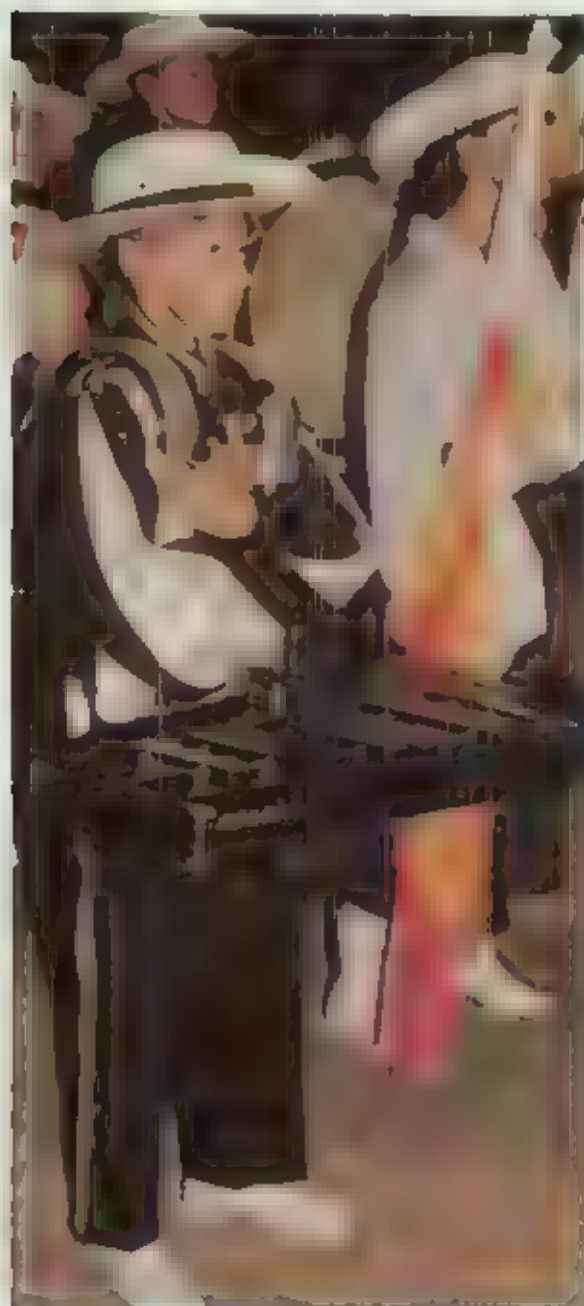

Friends were an important part of life at Marcos. The variety of activities at school provided a special place for friendships to begin. The friendships formed in high school could often continue throughout one's life.

Athletics was another part of Marcos memories. Whether an athlete or spectator, sports could provide many experiences worth remembering.

What would high school have been like without clubs? Clubs gave students the opportunity to broaden their horizons, meet new people, and participate in fun activities.

As we progress through school, classes, activities, and friendships may change, but the memories made were constant reminders of the good times high school provided.

So go ahead-have fun and enjoy the best days of your life and remember to CELEBRATE MEMORIES!!

Getting involved was one of the top priorities for students at Marcos de Niza this year. They came out to support all sporting events, whether they were home or away. On and off campus activities, as well as the events at Marcos de Niza, became important times in student's lives. No matter what activity was going on, there was always something for everyone. One of the greatest things about student life at Marcos is that each person is encouraged to be themselves, whether it be their way of dress or personality. No two people on the campus are alike in personality, so talking to people helps you to really get to know them and perhaps meet some new friends. Friendships have become a highlight of campus life. Different relationships develop through involvement in school activities and outside interests. All of these things make up a great part of why student life here at Marcos is so special, but it's really what the students put into it that makes the difference.

Forever Young

Royal Homecoming Bursts With Memories

Although Homecoming is one of the most casual of all the formal dances throughout the school year, it still provided couples with an evening of fun and romance. The theme of this year's dance was "Forever Young", which was sponsored by Student Council.

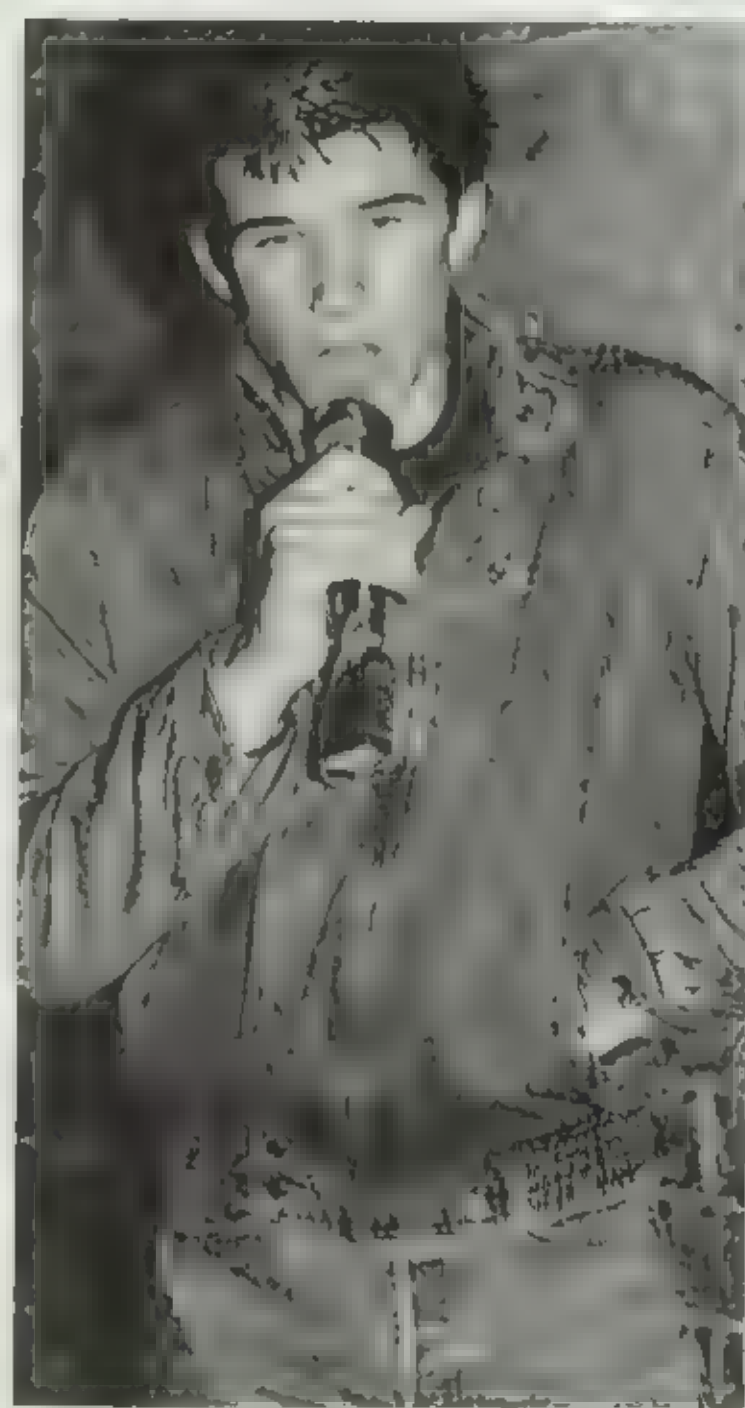

Each year, a senior couple is crowned as Homecoming King and Queen. Candidates for the 1985-1986 school year were Vicki DeVar, Muffie Herriman, Haylee Kronberg, Laura Sisulak, Dawn Tarkington, Joey Weber, Brent Dunn, Craig Cotrell, Greg Haynes, Jeff Gregarec, Scott Seymann, and Joel Navarro. The candidates were chauffeured around the track at halftime in 1986 Corvettes. The crowning of Muffie Herriman and Greg Haynes was the highlight of the half-time festivities during the game against Mesa High, which brought a victorious win by our Padres with a final score of 28 to 7. Many alumni pommies performed, and many graduated students of Marcos de Niza attended the game. Along with the dance and the football game came a variety of events such as Spirit Week, which also promoted school spirit during Homecoming Week.

On Monday, Hero Day, students finally had a chance to portray the personality of their favorite hero. Some students dressed as war heroes, while others were dressed in everything from Pee Wee Herman to Ghandi.

Students exchange various things brought from home on swap day.

Teachers can have spirit too as Mr. Draper, Mrs. Little, and Mr. Placona dress up on Hippie Day.

Homecoming Continued

Tuesday was Swap Day, and students were asked to bring something from home to trade with someone else. They swapped everything from tricycles to pillows to car parts with their friends. Hippie Day on Wednesday allowed students to dress up as their parents did back in the 60's. Bell bottoms, flowered clothing, headbands, jeans, jean jackets, and sandals invaded the campus. Tee shirts with sayings such as Make Love Not War, and Forever Live John Lennon were also popular. After school was the Mock Rock Assembly, which is popular among most students at Marcos de Niza. Included in the musical wonders were bands such as Kiymanx, The Beatles, and Corey Hart. Thursday sheets were everywhere as students celebrated Legs Day. Halos made of leaves and strapped sandals were most popular among students who participated.

The Homecoming Assembly was also held to introduce the Homecoming Royalty and raise spirits for the game. A skit was performed by Student Council expressing what Homecoming might have been like in Rome hundreds of years ago. Friday finally ended the week with brown and gold day. Students wore the school colors to show their spirit for the upcoming game.

Standing in for Greg Haynes, Robert Bently escorts Muffie Herriman off the field as the new 1985 Homecoming Royalty.

Variety is the Spice of Life

Individuality Makes Up Different Life Styles

Diversity is the spice of life at Marcos de Niza. Whether it was student enjoying the company of friends at lunchtime, running to class to make the tardy bell, or talking to a fellow classmate about last hour's test, there was never a dull moment as you looked around the campus. The lockers, halls, bike-racks, parking lots, and tables by the Junior-Senior lockers were just some of the different places where students could gossip and socialize with friends. It also provided an opportunity to meet new friends and share interests.

School activities, such as pep rallies, spirit days, school football games and dances were the main attractions for a variety of social events. Also popular were formal dances, including Homecoming, Coronation, and Prom, which provided special and memorable evenings for students.

There were also many off-campus activities that students enjoyed. Skateboarding, shopping and going to shows and concerts were just some of the things that people liked to do. Also popular was going out to eat at fast food restaurants at places such as Little Caesars, Smitty's, McDonalds, and the most popular-Burger King.

All of these things play a major role for the years spent at Marcos de Niza, but it was really the students that make student life the best it could be.

Reach For The Stars

College Night Sparks Aspirations For Future

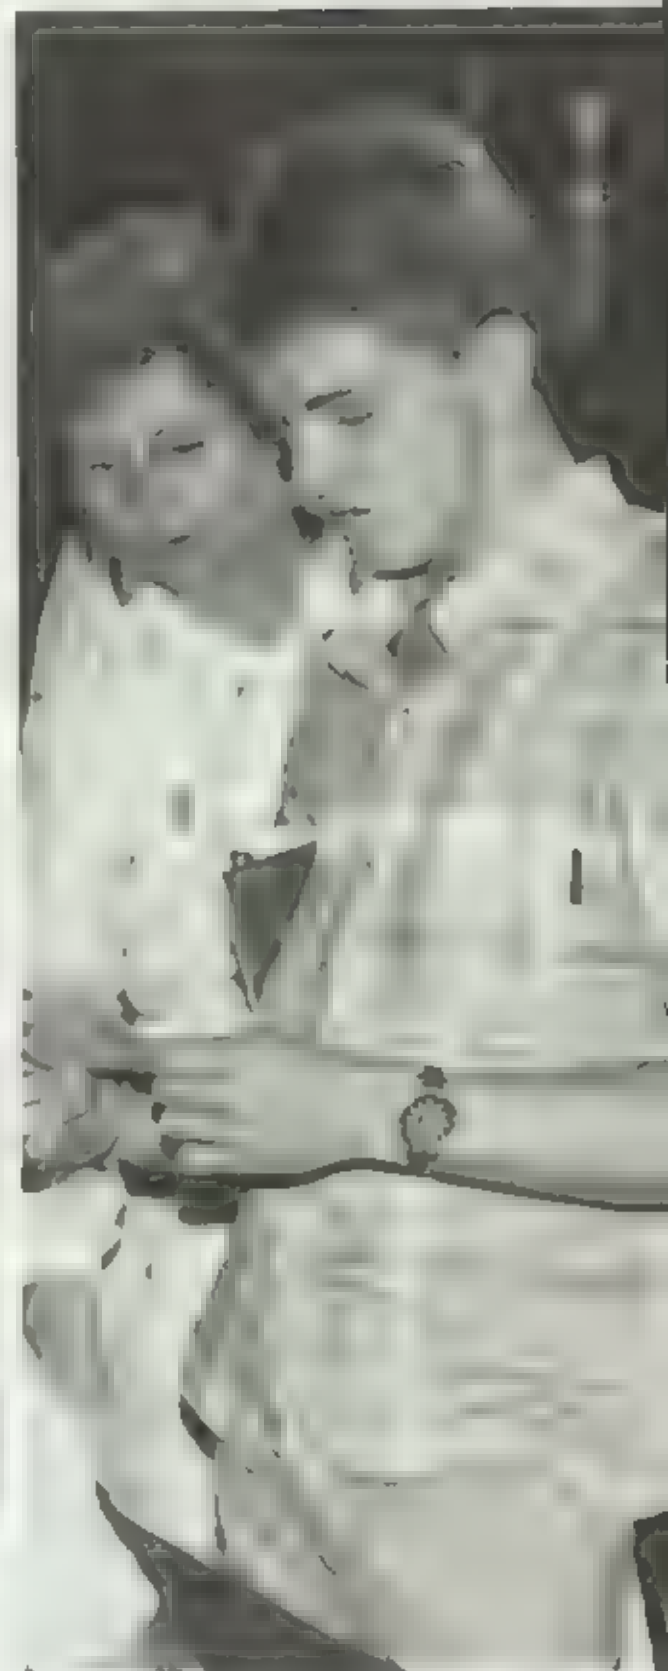

Out of State College Night at Marcos de Niza was one of the most highlighted events of the school year.

Held on October 21 this year, it provided college information to students who may be interested in attending a college in another state. Registers and admissions officers from colleges across the country agreed to attend and provide materials for the parents and students of all Tempe, Mesa, Chandler, Gilbert, and Apache Junction High Schools. State Universities, such as Brown University, Colorado State, University of Southern California, Pepperdine, Stanford, and the University of New Mexico attended, along with military schools including Annapolis and the United States Air Force Academy.

Students and parents were primarily involved in asking questions. Requirements, location, and what was being offered were some of the things students were interested in, while parents were more concerned with the tuition and school fees.

The counselors provided a table set up to give students and parents information on scholarships and financial aid. Most of all College Night provided a chance for students to plan for their future.

As Mrs. Week looks on, Thad Quaes, Karen Melvin, and Mike Ostland become interested in finding out information about their favorite college on Out-of-State College Night.

Senior, Eddie Ball, reads about another college of interest at College Night. Scott Seyman and Becky Jacobs look into college information.

Sleuthing Undercover In Padre Country

Giving a chance for students and teachers to show their school spirit, Halloween 1985 at Marcos de Niza High School was an elaborate event of celebration to be remembered forever. No matter what ones age happened to be, 16 or 60, it didn't matter a bit, for everyone became a child again; dressing up in favorites as everything from a toyish Mickey Mouse to holy nuns to gruesome portrayals of Dracula.

Also popular among students were masks showing the faces of such people as Einstein and various creatures. After spending the day in their favorite costumes, many students went trick or treating around the Tempe area.

DECA students, sponsored by Mr.

Greaven and Mrs. Benedict, were also out collecting cans for their food drive, in which all the cans were donated and presented to the Phoenix Food Bank. "It could have been better by having more support from all the students," said Mr. Greaven. Between DECA classes, competition was held to see which class accumulated the most cans. Winners were rewarded by a doughnut party. Over 2,000 cans were collected for the needy.

Other students who preferred not to go trick-or-treating still enjoyed the Halloween spirit by going to costume parties either on Halloween night or during the weekend.

Even monsters can share good times with friends on Halloween.

We're Number One

Enthusiasm Strong In Spirit Assemblies

With students showing their pride and spirit, pep rally assemblies allowed everyone to be enthusiastic. Pep rallies were usually held before basketball or football games to increase attendance during these sporting events. During most of these assemblies pommies would dance and the band would play their latest tunes to get the crowds excited.

Class competitions were popular events, and such things as a Big Mac eating contest, a break-dancing contest, playing a skilled game of Simon and a bubblegum blowing contest were just some of the spirit raising events.

Cheering contests, held by pom and cheer squads, were also a way to gain points for the awarded spirit stick presented at the end of the school year.

Starting out the school year, Freshmen Initiation was held in order to prove to them that the seniors were in charge, doing things such as making them eat raw pizza and locking them in the freshmen-sophomore lockers.

Freshmen were also ridiculed by being forced to dance for the upperclassmen atop the senior tables to be freed to go to class.

Spirit Week for Homecoming, sponsored by Student Council, was a big hit with dress-up days for each day of the week.

During football games, a special section led the rest of the crowd in cheers and chants that showed spirited enthusiasm to our football players.

You Meet Them Wherever You Go

Marcos de Niza was proud to present the Up With People show on Feb 6. Former vice-principal Dr. Gloria Smith deserved credit for her determination in getting them here. Through her quick thinking she was able to receive 10,000.00 dollars from the American Broadcasting Association just to have them perform here at Marcos. We were fortunate to have such a prestigious group booked at our school before being booked at the Colliseum.

Up With People began in the belief that through music and dance young people could communicate their ideas and hopes. In their one-hour show they entertained the audience as well as got their message across.

The Up With People show was a dynamic, contemporary production featuring a talented cast and band. It is one of the few live musical shows in production today that provides family-type entertainment to audiences of all ages.

This professionally produced entertainment contains popular as well as original material. It also includes parts from authentic national songs and dances to thoughtful ballads.

The aim of this program is to help young people gain new understanding of the world and begin to realize their own potential.

One student said, "It was good just because of all the fun they looked like they were having."

Another student after seeing the show said, "I went out of the gym feeling a lot more enthusiastic than I did when I came in."

The cast is made up of high-spirited young men and women from many different countries who spend a year with the group and perform. Besides just performing, they learn from the people and the places they visit while entertaining others and having fun. The enthusiasm and energy communicated by the cast made the audience feel included in the show and left them with a feeling of hope both in this younger generation and the future. It provided fun and entertainment for everyone.

Rhythm of the Night was one of the many songs performed. Two members of the Up With People Band show us what fun performing can be.

United We Stand

Patriotism Assembly Waves Pride For USA

A rousing speech by state representative, Burton Barr, a flag pageant and patriotic tunes touched many students Thursday at the Marcos de Niza "I Believe in America" assembly.

This is the fourth year that Marcos has sponsored a patriotic assembly to commemorate Veteran's Day. The Marcos Junior ROTC began the assembly with a presentation of the history of the U.S. flag. While patriotic music was heard in the background, two junior ROTC students, Brian Hoffmann and Jim Livengood, told the flags' histories while other students marched with 13 U.S. flags.

Throughout the assembly, the Marcos choir and band performed patriotic songs. Some students would rather have spent their time elsewhere, but all were required to attend the assembly. "They shouldn't be forcing their patriotism on us," said senior Justin Hixon. "I'm not saying I'm not patriotic, but I don't force my views on them." Hixon joined most of the audience, though, in giving Barr a standing ovation at the end of his speech.

Barr, majority leader of the state House of Representatives since 1967, spent several minutes talking about serving in World War II. He described the end of the war - Europe's devastation and the atomic bomb.

The band and the choir then performed "America the Beautiful" after Barr's speech.

YOU'VE GOT A FRIEND...

Summer Explodes With Sister City Experiences

Summer in most teenagers lives is one of pure relaxation and enjoyment. Perhaps even more so for four lucky teenagers of Marcos de Niza.

These four were selected by the Tempe Sister City Program from all the Tempe high schools. Taken through a challenging and sometimes rather frustrating interview process before being chosen, they felt that it was well worth their effort. Stephanie Pease, Laura Sisulak, and Gary Thompson experienced life across the sea in Regensburg, West Germany. Trevor Bailey visited "the land down under" in Lower Hutt, New Zealand. Another Sister City is Skopje, Yugoslavia.

As a once in a life time experience, these four established everlasting friendships overseas even though thousands of miles would separate them. Perhaps the greatest advantage and reward of living in a foreign country for six weeks was the chance of adopting a family and sharing your home with a new "brother" or "sister" that would soon come to visit the United States to learn about the American way of life.

The exchange of culture and greater understanding of the youth between countries is all a part of the Tempe Sister City Program. Whether it was strolling down the narrow cobblestone streets of Regensburg or dreaming the days away in beautiful Lower Hutt, the summer of '85 will always be thought of with the fondest of memories.

Working 9 To 5

Padre Money Maker's Futures Will Benefit

Whether it was fast food restaurants, department stores, gas stations, baby sitting or even delivering papers, many of the students at Marcos were employed.

There were many different reasons why students work. Some were putting their money away to save for college and the future. Others would spend their earnings on the expenses of a car. Still, the majority of people would put their earnings to good use for extra spending money, or that one special thing they've had their eye on.

Stephanie Jackson, who works in the men's department at J.C. Penny Outlet said, "Working is a neat experience. You get to meet new people, and since you're earning money, you feel good about yourself." Most students worked an average of 20 hours a week, and were paid every two weeks. Christie O'dell, who works at the Arizona Athletic Club, enjoys her workplace. "There are many benefits, and I like to work out while I'm there."

Besides earning money, there were other things that you could gain from employment. You learned a sense of responsibility. In your work experience, you may learn new skills which could be very beneficial to your future. You also learned to manage your time, juggling a schedule to fit school and work hours, homework, and a social life

"I have a dream"

Patriot For Minority Equality Remembered By Assembly

On January 22, an assembly honoring Martin Luther King, Jr., was held at Marcos de Niza School, presented by members of the Black Student Union. Sponsored by Gloria Hemphill and Henrietta Bobo, the assembly honoring Dr. King was one of praise and celebration.

The special tribute began with a skit performed by members of the Black Student Union. This imaginary scene showed people on a segregated bus in the 1950's. Rosa Parks, a black woman, finally stood up for her rights by refusing to give up her seat for a white man. Her courageous action was the catalyst for the changes which Martin Luther King dreamed of for his people.

Along with song, poetry, and speeches by the students, an honored guest was presented. Calvin Goode, councilman, member of the Phoenix City Council, and previously the mayor of Phoenix, spoke of King's recognition and his own battle of fighting racial discrimination. "My own grade school was segregated, and my family and I had to move to Prescott just so I could attend high school."

Born in 1927, just two years previous to King, Goode spoke in honored remembrance of him. "I can still remember his speech on T.V. All I could think was that I could not do anything about it."

Being a community worker for the last ten years, Goode received his Bachelor's Degree and a Master's Degree in education and counseling at ASU. "Martin Luther King gave his life to try to help blacks. I just wanted to lead a committed life. Peace is not just a dream, but a real possibility. You could be a symbol of love, peace, and justice from sunup to sundown. We as people will get to the promised lands. I believe that one day all of God's children will be able to sing 'Let Freedom Ring'."

Martin Luther King Jr.'s memory will live on in the hearts of many people. "You can kill a man, but you cannot kill a dream." This first national holiday honoring Dr. King was visible evidence that the dream will come true.

Feliz Navidad

Seasonal Festivities Promote Anticipation

Introducing fun and excitement to the Christmas season, the 1985 Christmas assembly was successful. Performing arts groups filled the gym with many sounds of the joy of Christmas.

"Performing arts groups filled the gym with many sounds of Christmas"

The A Capella Choir performed such songs as "Frosty the Snowman" and "Jingle Bell Rock." Mr. Dan Greaven, marketing teacher, also got in the spirit, singing "Feliz Navidad," along with Mrs. Garcia, Spanish teacher and the entire guitar ensemble, led by Mr. Bob Diaz. Diaz, leading the crowd in song, portrayed Santa Claus at the assembly. Riding on a motorcycle around the gym and tossing candy to the audience was just one of the fun activities students enjoyed.

The Padre Concert Band also performed, with tunes such as "Here Comes Santa Claus." The orchestra joined in to accompany the concert band to play "Winter Wonderland." During the regular school hours that day, students showed the spirit by wearing everyone's favorite X-mas colors, red and green.

It's Everyone's Guess What's Hot And Not

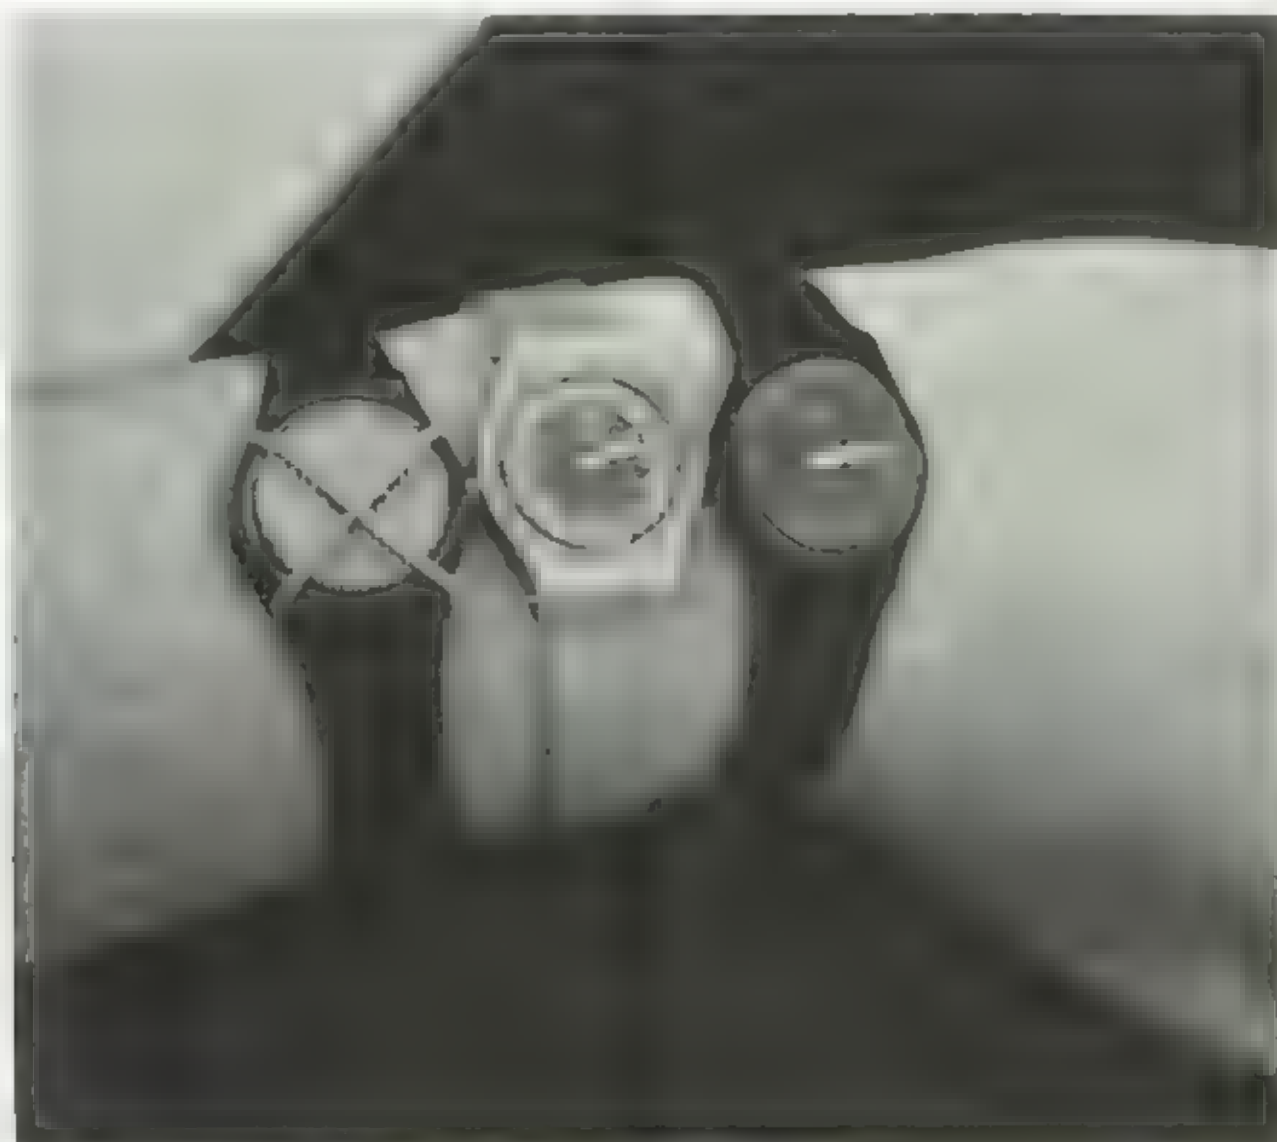

As the 1985-86 school year at Marcos de Niza began, students brought in a variety of new fashion trends. Still very popular from last year is the mod look, including such things as paisley prints, big sweaters, long shirts, cropped pants, and boots. The traditional "bob" haircut also fits perfectly with this category of dress. A new trend to hit hard with students at Marcos this year is the punk look. Dyed hair, pierced noses and lots of black are just some characteristics of the wearers, group t-shirts, creepers, ripped and faded clothing, and accessories such as chains or metal jewelry complete the affect. Ever dominant on campus all the time the "laid-back" look. These students at Marcos usually wear whatever is at the top of the pile of clothes in their closets, whether it be jeans and a t-shirt, or old beat up k-swiss tennis shoes. Never seeming to go out of style completely, the "preppy" look is always in with Marcos students. Sweatshirts, button-down collar shirts, k-swiss and Genera clothes

Among underclassmen, the skater look with bones t-shirts, baggy shorts, and skateboards under your arm has come back into style in the fall season

Although the hairstyles at Marcos are constantly changing, the "shaved" look is still in this season, along with the basic short look

Sophomore Bridget Bogar displays the large, brightly-colored hair clips worn by many students. Guess was perhaps the most popular and the most expensive brand of clothing worn by Padres.

Paisley made a come-back from the 1960's as demonstrated by sophomore Michelle Guzman. The Swatch and Guess watches were popular Christmas gifts once again this year.

Worn by Hollyn Mc Pheters and Alison Rose, the over-sized look and tilted wide belt were two fashions that made the trendy list for 1986.

Lisa Jennings, Cathy Lesniak, and Stacey Brown hurry to Arizona History wearing stylish shoes, skirts and over-sized sweaters. No one needs to "Guess" what Julie Caudron believes to be her favorite brand of clothing.

Alive and kicking

MD Inspires Students To Donate Energy

For Marcos de Niza, January 25th was "Alive and Kickin'" as DECA members and Marcos students raised over $10,000 at their yearly MDA Superdance. Though there were many sore feet Sunday morning, the 180 dancers had fun while helping for a good cause. They received a grand total of $11,387 in their fight for Muscular Dystrophy. Several activities were planned including guest speakers Bill Mosley and Bruce Kelley, Mock Rock, and other types of competition. Being well organized, with plenty of food and prizes for everyone (even Herb!!!) Mr. Dan Greaven, DECA Dan, said, "It was a memorable experience for the participating students who helped raise the most money ever from one high school. I'll remember it always."

From some students point of view "Everybody had a FUNKY time!" Lori Lagro "My feet hurt for two days, but it was great." — Shannan Smith and Senior Justin Hixon said, "It was lots of work and it came out well in the end. We thought raising the money was the most important part!"

Mr. Greaven added, "How many events could a school sponsor and have such a good time, raise so much money and support a worthwhile organization? They should feel incredibly proud of their accomplishments."

Newsmakers For 1986 Generate Smiles, Tears

One of the major new events of the year was the startling explosion of the space shuttle Challenger. After delays in launching the space shuttle, it lifted off Jan 27, 1986. Many were watching the trailing smoke, when suddenly the Challenger burst into a ball of flames. The seven crew members were killed, which included the first non-astronaut, Teacher Christa McAuliffe.

William Perry, widely known as "The Refrigerator" was definitely a news-maker for 1985-86. Weighing over 300 pounds and playing a big role in the Super Bowl, and the "Super Bowl Shuffle," turned a lot of ordinary people to life-time fans. Presently, "the fridge" is doing commercials for Coca Cola and Craft Macaroni & Cheese.

The school year of 1985-86 was filled with many smiles and many tears and will be remembered as a year of people reaching out to people.

Given a royal welcome, Prince Charles and Princess Diana came to the United States on a rare visit during this year. They shared many American traditions, including a tour of a J.C. Penney's store.

Also, there have been many steps taken towards helping the starving people of Ethiopia. One of the many was "We are the World", a song made by the many music stars today. All the money from the records, shirts, ect. went to Ethiopia to purchase food and clothing. They won a Grammy Award for the "song of the year."

Locally, we had the Arizona Farm Band which was put together by local T.V. and radio broadcasters and famous people of the community. The song was "Hear Your Heart" and all money raised from this went to Ethiopia and Arizona's needy.

Dying of AIDS, actor Rock Hudson awoke America to the reality of this terrible illness. Other actors sponsored numerous benefits to raise money for the research of AIDS. This problem has enhanced public awareness and scientists are still trying to find a cure for this life-threatening disease.

The school year of 1985-86 was filled with many smiles and many tears and will be remembered as a year of people reaching out to people.

Spotlight Performances Capture Hidden Talents

Among the various students here at Marcos, many of them featured their unique talents during the '85-'86 school year. The Marcos de Niza talent show, held during December, was one of the best ever. An audition for the acts was required. Although it was open to all students. After the participants were chosen, there were two rehearsals held at school. "The talent show was in a performance-ready manner, so the only thing necessary left was to work on technical problems," explained director of the show, Miss Pardee. The talent show provided different talents as a show-case piano, acting, singing, and musical solos of original work. "There were at least 220 people in the audience for each of the shows, and also people waiting outside to get in the "house." "Generally, everyone was polite and receptive," said Miss Pardee. The talent show has been an annual event for many years, sponsored by NHS or student council as a fundraiser. Although it has been several years since it was held, the talent show proved most successful.

Other talents were projected on Monday, January 27. The advanced dance class, taught by Ms. Carol Caruso, performed a concert at Boyle Auditorium on the McClintock High School Campus. The songs were all chosen from Broadway musical hits and choreographed by the students.

The opener at the show was to the song Grizabella from the musical "Cats". All of the students had groups in which they had the opportunity to dance for this particular song. As the show progressed, there were songs ranging from the roaring '20's" to musicals still in production.

The costumes were original and unique for each dance. The groups ranged from two to seven people and magnificent lighting produced the full effect of the dancing. "To prepare for this show, it took a lot of hours of hard work," stated one of the students who performed.

Together the two shows made a huge success for both the students who performed, and for the students who had the talents of others.

Mysterious Dilemma: Woman At Dead Oaks

Death, drama and dessert. This was the trio behind the production of the dessert-theater presentation "Woman at Dead Oaks."

The drama production- with goodies- was a joint effort between Mrs. Leslie Morris' foods classes and Mrs. Marge Boydston's HERO class. The play was Nov. 7-9 at Marcos de Niza with curtain time at 7:30 p.m. Sweet treats were served, dinner-theater style, during intermission.

An estimated 500 theater-goers enjoyed the fruit and cheese cake tarts, prepared by the beginning foods classes. "The tarts came out beautifully!" said, Mrs. Jama Crane, home economics teacher.

"This was a novel idea. I haven't heard of it anywhere before," Miss Dixie Partee, drama instructor, said. "It was fun and it demonstrated cooperation between different departments."

"Woman at Dead Oaks" by John Kirkpatrick, was a murder mystery, featuring students Beth Livengood, Jennifer St. John, Beth Broeker, Nancy Jones, Bill Hagen, Sherri Cox, Angie Bigler, Paul Frankenstein, Brian Krueger, Matt Duncan, Beau Williams, and Karyn Hargis.

Injuries, Penalties Upset Varsity Season

For the '85 Varsity Football team, it was a season of problems and tough losses as they ended the year with a 5-5 record.

players each week. "We played a lot of tough games, but we lost some of those because of injuries, but mainly by penalties and turnovers which hurt us late in the games," replied head coach Frank Castro.

Quarterback Darryl Hillman, one of the top rated passers in the state, was the leader for this never-give up offense, gaining almost 2,000 combined (1460) and rushing (378) yards during the season. On the receiving end, Joel Navarro, leading receiver, had 28 catches for 434 yards, Willy Lira had 20 for 252 yards, and John Colby also with 20 for 395 yards.

Shutting out two opponents, Mountain View and Tempe, the defensive squad was impressive throughout the year. With one of the fastest set of defensive backs like Willy Lira, Sean Warren, Greg Haynes, and Darryl Hillman, were able to keep up with just about anyone. The defensive line tried to control the game with linemen.

Whether on the defensive or offensive, the Varsity team put forth the Padre fighting spirit that had lead them through the season.

J.V. Frosh Learn Through Experience

For the '85 J.V. Football team, it was an outlook of a learning experience. Their record of 1-7 was primarily from lack of experience and injuries that plagued this hard working team.

"We had a young team this year, but it was good experience and will help them for next year," replied head coach Jim Rance.

Their only win this year was a 13-6 victory of city rival, Tempe. Running the show on offense, was quarterback Barry Julian. His main target was Martin Despain, who shared leading scores with Rowell Ashord in the backfield and Lorenzo Acosta who played defense and wide receiver. In the backfield, Rick Allen also performed well. The defense was led by lineman Sean Teller, Mark Garcia, Martin De-

Spain, and Lorenzo Acosta.

With an explosive defense that shutout four opponents and was not scored on until the seventh game, the Frosh Football team posted an impressive 5-1-2 record this year. Leading this defensive squad was Brad Herman with the most tackles of the season. "The defense held up very well this year," explained Coach Geraghty.

On offense, Jim Mancuso and Mark Wood were the leaders. "Mancuso, the quarterback, started out a little slow, but turned it on during mid-season," replied head coach Tom Huber. Mark Wood, the leading scorer on the team, was also a big key on defense. Special thanks goes to volunteer Coach Frank Manolio, who helped with the team.

POM

Hard Work Dazzles Cheering Crowds

Promoting school spirit of the students through pep rallies, spirit assemblies, football and basketball games. The seven seniors, eight juniors and one sophomore always showed their smiling faces while performing on the Marcos de Niza 1985-86 pom line. The pom line, at the beginning of the year, traveled to the Pom Follies, where all the pom lines in Tempe gather to compete. "Pom Follies was exciting because it was the only time we got to meet and work with pommies from the other Tempe schools," said Kristi Vanney.

Over the summer, the girls attended the National Cheerleading Association Supperstar Pom Pom Camp at NAU in Flagstaff. "We had a lot of fun at camp and we all got to be pretty good friends" said pommie Dawn Rainwater. During the camp, the pommies competed in various events.

Each week, the pommies practiced, learned, and made-up new dances between 6:30 and 7:30 am. "It's hard work, but we have a great time doing it," says junior Linda Rios, a member of the line.

Friendships made on the pom line were also special. Through all the hard work, the girls on the line learned how to work together productively.

"They were a great group of girls and they were fantastic to work with," added Linda.

Michelle Taylor, Karl McDonald, Vanessa Hughes, Tami Crete, Kathy Murracino show the concentration a Pommie needs to have before a dance.

CHEER

Unity Promotes Crowd Enthusiasm

During the summer of '85, eight cheerleaders competed against 60 other squads from other states in Flagstaff. The outcome of the competition was the achievement of winning all superior ratings and being runner up in the whole camp. "I loved the competition that was involved that summer," remarked Traci Davis.

The eight cheerleaders selected last spring for the Varsity cheer squad were: All American Traci Davis, Muffie Herriman, Maureen Kiernan, Lisa Randall, Elaine Migala, Katie Purtiman, Kim Nickels, and Dawn Tarkington.

The '85 JV cheerleaders were: Suzanne Anthony, Norlyn Payne, Kristi Sanders, Michelle Mellison, Roberta Quintero, and Tiffany Witters. Besides supporting the JV teams, they raise the spirit in the pep assemblies and on campus. Miss Carol Caruso sponsored all three cheerlines this year.

The 1985 freshmen cheer line included Kathy Mock, Stacy Peralta, Lisa Buday, Jennifer Ringhoyer, Gloria Pitts, Kendi Delp, and Dana Zabinski.

The cheerleaders perform at the pep rallies and at football and basketball games. Creating the majority of the spirit at Marcos was what they did best, and had a spirit stick to show for it. Miss Caruso, who also coached swimming and track, feels that this squad was one of the best.

SWIMMING

Swimmers Dive To New Depths

Starting off with a smashing winning season of (6-2), the Girls and Boys Swimming team were achievers this year.

The Boy's team, according to Coach Weed, had a super year. "We will be looking forward to next year, because we were only losing two seniors, and the team was very strong and willing to work," said Coach Weed.

Some of the boys who qualified for start were Don Croyle, butterfly, Rob Forst, 100 back stroke, and 200 IM, Keith McNulty, breaststroke, and Chris Kiefer, freestyle. These boys also made up the medley relay team.

"I had fun at practice even though we worked very hard," said Rob Forst.

According to Carol Caruso, the Girls team also had a great season.

"We really wanted the girls to have a good time while they were on the team, and to achieve their goals for the year," said Coach Caruso. The girls also had some of their swimmers go to state consisting of: Elaine Migala, Kim Nichols, Kristi Dorsey, and Kelly Arredondo, all on the relay team, and Lisa Mancuso, breaststroke, and Kerri Arredondo.

"We had a lot of fun in practices and the coaches made it fun throughout the year," said Lisa Mancuso.

This year the team was marked by many accomplishments on the part of the individual swimmers. Tom Davis broke the 1980 record in diving, he made 214 points. Girls freestyle was also broken by Elaine Migala, Kelly Arredondo, Kim Nichols, and Christy Dorsey.

Tom Davis, Beau Haynes, and Mike Kofka wait patiently for their next dive. The girl swimmers take their mark while waiting for the gun.

Young Team Takes Pride In Stride

"It was definitely a rebuilding year," commented Coach John Dutton. Dutton led the Boys Varsity team on to a fair 6-6 record. In the city meet, the Varsity team finished second. All-City selections from Marcos were Brian Hofmann, Burt Perrine, Scott Burson, and Brett Hofmann.

The boys J.V. team finished with a very successful season of 10-2. They also placed second in the City Meet.

This year's top runners included freshmen Robby Ferguson and Kevin Ferguson, sophomores Karl Winkleman and Burt Perrine, juniors Brett Hofmann, Mike Chalmers, and Steve Quintero, and seniors Brian Hofmann and Scott Burson. "To sum it up, we had a lot of fun and we all improved in many ways," remarked Burt Perrine.

The Girls team finished 2-10 overall. "They had a lot of potential, but we were hurt by injuries in the middle of the season," explained Coach Pond. Sophomore Michelle Hillman was out most of the season with injuries. Hillman was expected to compete with Lagro for Marcos' top runner, but fell short by competing in only a couple of races. All of this year's runners showed a lot of improvement. Most will be back next season, for only two seniors—Laura Sisalak and Haylee Kronburg will be leaving. "We are looking forward to next year," said Lagro, "we all have a lot of fun and next year we will be stronger than ever."

Team Sets Up For Rebuilding Experience

Playing in one of the toughest divisions in the state, the Marcos de Niza Varsity Volleyball team ended up with a disappointing record of 2-14. "The team showed signs of improvement, but again had a disappointing record. What can't be accounted for is the determination on the team that kept them going all season," said coach Boyles.

The key players on this year's team were seniors Adrian Campbell and Lisa Randall. Adrian was a front row attacker and Lisa was a setter and a back row player. Two other key players were juniors Melissa Johnson and Melissa Beamsley.

Johnson was a middle row blocker and Beamsley was the captain of the team.

The members of the team this year were: Katy Rassmussen, Gwen Smith, Julie Whipple, Kelley Ray, Lisa Randall, Adrian Campbell, Melissa Johnson and Melissa Beamsley.

"The team did not always play consistent ball. We were up and down too much. We played very close matches against Dobson and very tough games against Mt. View and McClintock," added Coach Boyles.

ARCHERY/VOLLEYBALL

Striving To Be The Best Ever

Requiring intense concentration and severe competition, the 1986 Archery team strived to be one of the best ever. Their experience and talent was very great this year, since eight of the ten girls from last year's team returned to compete this year. Members of the Marcos de Niza Archery team included Michelle Reamer, Angela Stahl, Chris Sweeney, and all of whom compete on a varsity level.

Competing in one of the largest divisions in the state the archery team had high hopes to have a very successful season.

This year's freshman volleyball team, under the direction of Coach

Worthy had an exciting season.

Their season started with a bang and slowed down during the middle. The peak of the season was the final game against Powell Jr. High. All the players on the team were important with their strong points. Some served better, while others set or bumped better.

"It takes all of these to win", commented Coach Worthy. "The members worked well together and improved as a unit." Members of the team included Heather Cassidy, Kim Williams, Ester Florez, Susie Hess, Erin Brown, Debra McDonald, and Melanie Bedick

GOLF

The Grass Is Always Greener

The 1986 Marcos de Niza boys' golf team continues its tradition of a productive season under head coach, Ron Cosner.

The team consists of eight golfers who play up to 14 dual meets per season, divisionals, and the state championship tournament. For the Padres to succeed, they would have to place in the top four of divisionals.

In the past, the Padres have come in fifth, and on one occasion came within one hole. In a tournament at Kola this year, the Padres placed fourth out of 16 teams.

The team practices at the Ken McDonald Golf Course. They play nine holes, and they are off the course by around 5:00 to 6:00 p.m. Coach Cosner, states "It's the kind of sport where you go out and shoot great one day, and horrible the next."

The goal of the team, according to Coach Cosner, is "always to play better than last year."

For the most part, golfers get most of their practice from experience, Cosner said.

"Golf is the kind of sport you get

BASKETBALL

Emphasis On Improving For Next Year

The Junior Varsity basketball team consisted of eleven players. "There was no one most valuable player on the team. The whole entire team was important," said coach Al Merino. The leading scorers for the team were Tom Davis and Bryan Hooks. The leading rebounders were Bryan Hooks and Barry Julian.

The team always had a goal to do better than last year and to improve. "In practice, a lot of hard work and discipline provided dedication which will help us to be better for next year," said Tom Davis.

The goals of the freshman basketball team were to see steady improvement throughout every game and to learn the fundamentals of playing as a team. The team consisted of fourteen players. The leading scorer was Jared Rittenhouse and the leading rebounder was Ed Schaffer. "Coaching freshmen gave me an opportunity to develop new ways to teach fundamentals," said coach Mike Matwick.

"During the year we learned a lot, now we have the ability to do a lot better in future years," said Scott Bell.

"With all of our new skills and the coaching, the team will be looking forward to next year," said Jim Mancuso.

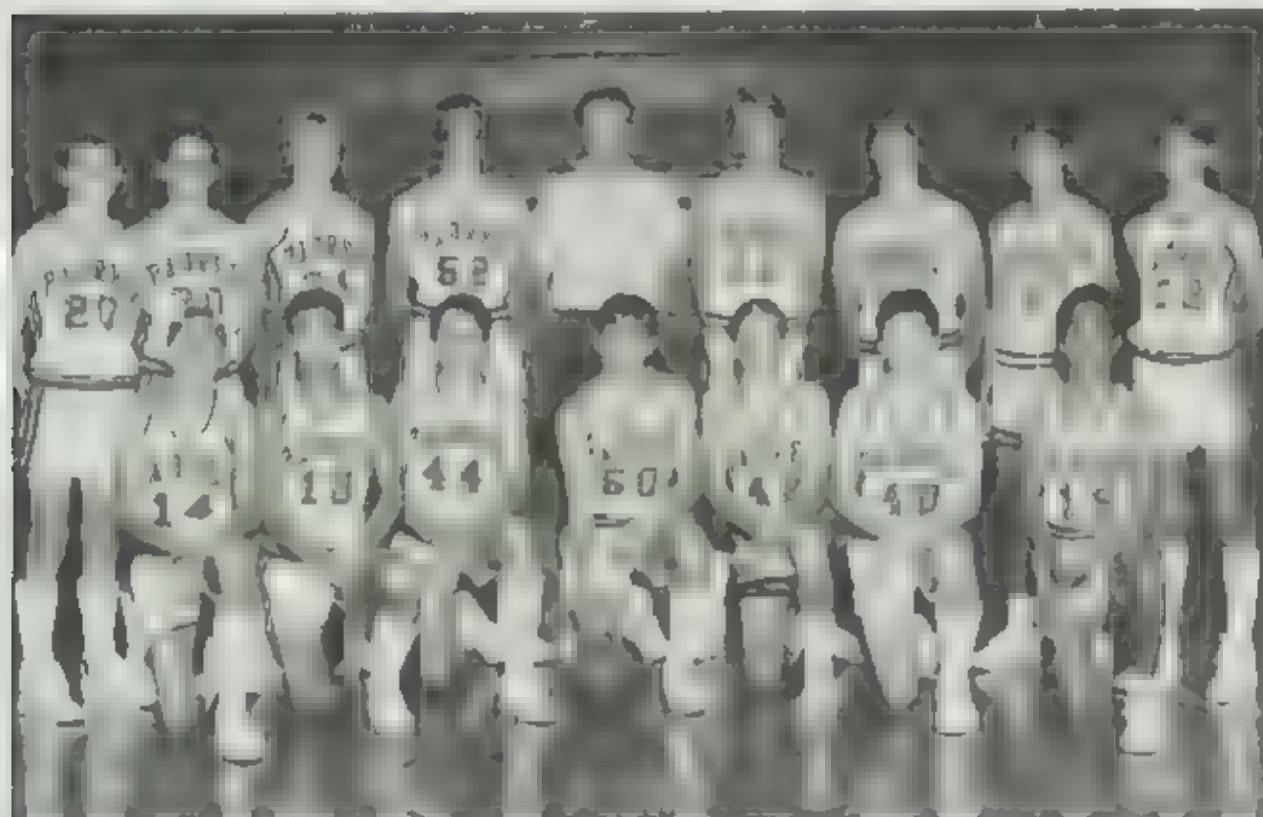

Shelby Hill added "We had good coaching which taught us to develop our skills, and the whole team will be looking forward to next year."

'86 Quarter-Finals Entice Better Season Play

The boys varsity soccer team played extremely well in all their games this year. Because of their tremendous record of ten wins, one loss, and one tie, the team was entered in the state playoffs. They traveled to Tucson but was defeated by the best team in the state.

Besides the regular season, the team played very well in the Christmas tournament. They beat several competitive opponents to advance to the finals. The final game went into double overtime and Jeff Gill scored the winning goal for Marcos.

Although the team includes only two seniors, they displayed much experience this year. "Even though we look good now, we could be better," smiles Mike Chalmer, a right fullback.

Surprisingly, the varsity squad included three freshmen and several sophomores. "We have a lot of inexperienced players this year. This only means we can look forward to more experience in the next couple of years," stated Mike Chalmers.

Wrestlers Improve Previous Season Scores

This year's wrestling team had a trying season. "The single most thing that hurt our season this year was that 15 members moved over the summer. Seven out of those 15 had good chances of becoming varsity wrestlers," said Coach Bob Urichike.

The best players in the 1985-86 season were: Steve Felly, senior, wrestling 105 lbs. at 21-4, Kenny Buckland, senior, wrestling 138 lbs. at 19-6, Richard Pavis, senior wrestling 179 lbs. at 18-7-1, Robert Herrera, senior, at 20-5-1, Marcos Wilson, senior, Pat Burns, junior, Brian Hartman, junior, and Mark Wood, freshman at 10-5. There are 36 members on this year's team compared to the 65-75 of the past three

Overall, the season left room for improvement for next year. Coach Urichike said that many of the best wrestlers on the team had a good chance of going to state finals. The state meet this year was held at Shadow Mt. High School on the 21 and 22 of February.

This year's competition included Mt. View, Mesa, Dobson and Tempe.

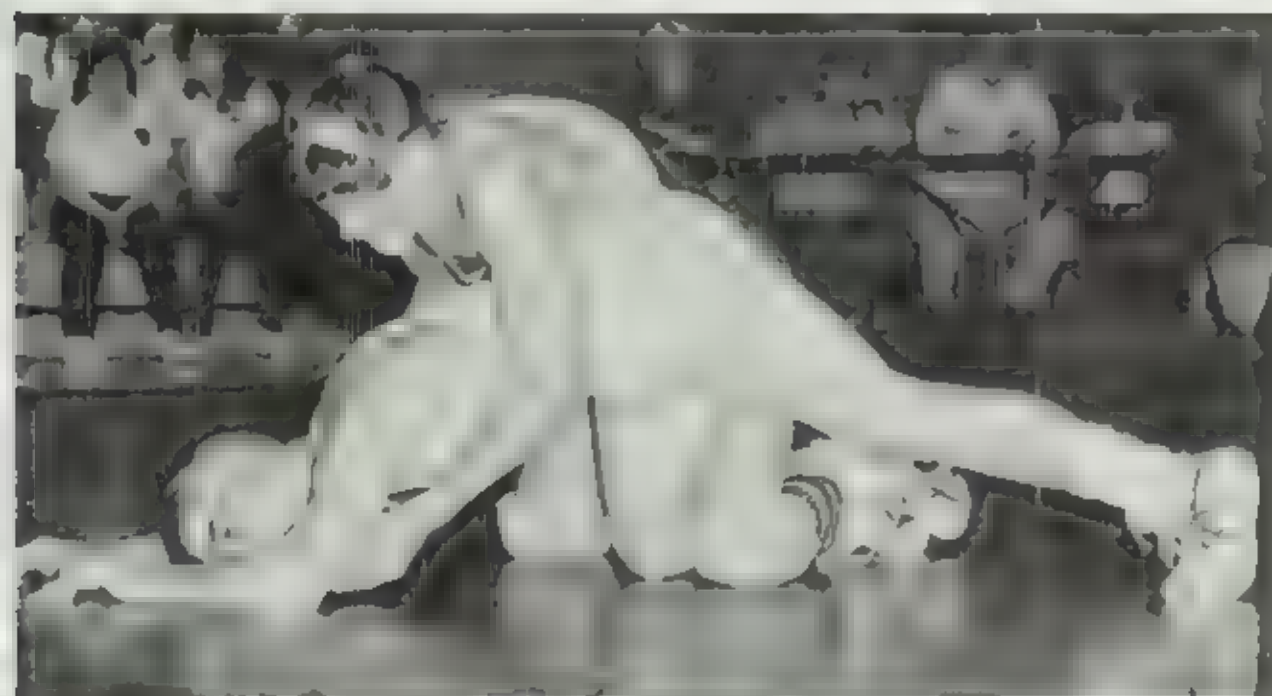

Wrestlers practiced every morning at 7:15 and after school till about 4:30. Even though the team had a 4-9 score approaching divisionals, Coach Urichike said that the team had worked hard in spite of the holes in the weight classes.

SOFTBALL

Softball Slides Into Improved Season

The girl's varsity softball team may have had a disappointing season, but their spirit for competition kept them going. The returning seniors: Stephanie May, Carol Terrazas Frias, Cammie Stephens, and Leesa Burns helped to give the team the determination they needed. The juniors also helped the team along.

In the league, the team finished with a record of 5-11 and placed third in the Christmas Tournament. Against the number one team Dobson, the team had a disappointing loss, but were able to come back and beat them further on in the season.

"We are a young team that has worked hard and learned a great deal."

Young Batters Swing Through '86 Schedule

This year's freshman softball team had an excellent season with a record of 13-3. All of the players had an outstanding season and all gave their one hundred percent to win. Out of the top players on the team, Jenny Malasnik and Nicole Young were the two outstanding players that did their best for the frosh this year. Poston, who had been undefeated this season, said Marcos' freshmen team was the hardest team they had to play all season.

One of the players Jenny Malasnik remarked, "Our team tried and did their best. We deserved the season that we had."

Players included: Amy Timmons, Brook Beadles, Kathy Mack, Sarah Clark, Linda Martinez, Tobi Alderman, Leticia Rodriguez, Bobbi Duenas, Kim Courtney, Nicole Young, Jenny Malasnik, Erin Brown, and Carmen Martinez.

For the J.V. girls softball team, they had a record of 3-12. Even though the team did not win many games Mrs. Boyles commented,

"This year's team had excellent base running skills..."

TENNIS

Good Depth, Skill Brings Good Season

This year the Varsity boys tennis team had a strong group of senior players including Matt Jones, Scott Brody, Delter Janousek, Steve Mousser, Scott MacPherson, and Paul Villarreal. Two underclassmen which played an important roll were Gerard de los Santos (jr.) and Cavin Smith (soph).

They received strong play out of almost everyone in their tough matches. That allowed them to win the close ones due to their strong doubles play. Peter Janousek came through with a great singles win that enabled them to win a very close match with Westwood

"Our success this season and last has been based on the development of good depth so that we can usually beat teams that have very strong players in the top positions, but drop off in the bottom. Much of the success of the tennis program at Marcos de Niza is the result of players being willing to spend extra time and money improving themselves off season", were the comments of Coach Deacon.

BASEBALL

Hard Work Provides Impressive Outcome

With the leadership of Coaches Tom Huber and Don Adler, the varsity baseball team had an impressive season. Seniors made up a good percentage of the roster and helped provide strong team organization.

"Last year we had a disappointing season even though we were expected to do well," said senior Eric Miller. "This year was different, we had what it takes again and this time we used it."

Depth was also a growing factor with participation from numerous Juniors. Junior Steve Bruner commented "Juniors helped the team in more than just warming the bench, we had many opportunities to play this year and it helped us mature together as a team." The Marcos Varsity Baseball team will be returning 5 players next year.

From the first game of the season to the season finale, the team fought hard and proved to the East Valley that Marcos can play baseball.

This year's returning lettermen were: Eric Miller, Chicho Garcia, Bob Morenzoni, Todd MacPherson, Darren Quarter, Cory Sneed, Gary Thompson, Bill Levine, Tim Langon, Greg Haynes, and Dave Ryan.

Senior third baseman, Gary Thompson, cuts through on a pitch in batting practice, while catcher Dave Ryan awaits the ball.

BASEBALL

Teams Finish Out Encouraging Year

Under the supervision of Coach James Heiberger and Coach Dick Worthy, the J.V. and Freshman baseball team showed improving skills, and an all around encouraging year.

There were eighteen members of the J.V. team and Coach Heiberger was impressed with his players. "The whole season was dependent upon the amount of determination put forward by the players," said Heiberger. At practice, basic skills were the main focus point and no serious problems were apparent in their game.

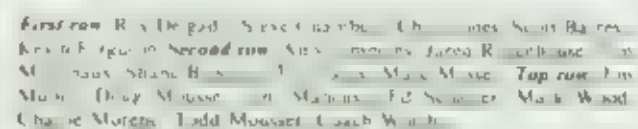

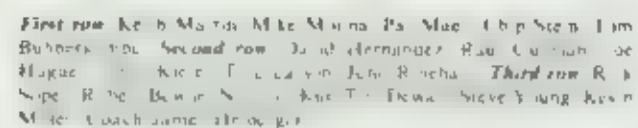

"The practices were good and there was a real positive attitude shown by the players," commented Heiberger.

Coached by Mr. Worthy the freshman team mainly worked on getting the fundamentals of baseball down and concentrated on playing as a team. "I have some really talented freshmen this year," said Worthy.

On commenting on how the team looked at the beginning of the year, Worthy said, "I was excited about the chance of a successful year." Worthy was not disappointed by his players. Hard work and continuing improvement on the players part made a good year and brought up some promising players for next year's team. "Hard work really paid off for this bunch!" commented Worthy.

Tim Mollenaux waits for the next pitch. After hitting the ball freshman player, Craig Demarco, prepares to run to first base.

TRACK

All-Weather Track Improves Records

Compiled of many old faces and many new faces spring brought on track season. The new girls' coach this year, Coach Houser, made changes and created crowds of enthusiasm as the girls competed within the East Valley Central Division. Returning only six lettermen from the previous season devised many new openings for underclassmen to fill.

Laura Sisulak, a top hurdler in the state, returned for her senior year at Marcos. Michelle Hillman and Lori Lagro led the distance team at Marcos with some of the top clocked times. "Our goal is to win the city meet and defeat the Tempe schools in a duel meet competition," said Coach Houser.

On the boys team, coached by Rayne Simons, youth were given the chance to prove themselves. "We are having a hard time training because our track is not finished," commented Coach Simons. With the completion of the new "all-weather" track the times of the runners will decrease.

Returning members of the Boys' team that made their presence known were: Steve Dougherty, Brent Dunn, Jeff Sanuik, Scott Burson, Richard Sawyer, Brett Hoffmann, Trevor Bailey, Craig Cotrell, and Jeff Haugen.

Pat Patterson and Trevor Bailey, polevaulters, do "stadiums" during track practice. Rob Bluhm checks the starting position of another teammate.

BASKETBALL

Talent, Defense Are Reasons For Success

The Marcos de Niza girls varsity basketball team coached by Mike Matwick, had a season of high performance and excellence. Experience, talent, and defense were the reasons for the success of the team.

Members of this year's team were: Jodi Fults, Stephanie May, Jamel Chacko, Joey Weber, Maggie Cooley, Rhonda Perris, Julie Whipple, Melissa Beamsley, Dawn Tarkington, Adrian Campbell, and Allison Raymond.

The team went a long way this year because they were so deep in talent. Coach Mike Matwick said, "This has been the best group of talented girls that I have ever seen come through this school, the weakest would have been considered average on another team. Everyone will come in and contribute something to the team and any of the players can come in and play at any time."

Joey Weber, one of the returning varsity players said, "I was really looking forward to this season because we had some good players and a good team. We have worked hard and it has paid off."

Coach Matwick said that the major goal for the season was to make the central division playoffs, and move into the state tournament. Rhonda Perris, a new member to the team this year, said, "We have a lot of talented players this year, and it really helped us a lot."

BASKETBALL

Skillful Athletes Bring High Success

This year, the Marcos de Niza girl's freshman and J V, basketball teams were ones of high performance and excellence. This year's coach for the junior varsity team was Mr. Draper. Experience, talent, and defense were his reasons for the success of his team. "Our team has a lot of potential and skillful athletes," said Kelly Ray and Karen Randall, two members of the team. Other members of this year's team were: Kelly Arredondo, Michelle Edens, Carmelle Hayes, Ginger Tahsuda, Becky Witter, Nicole Young and Lisa Cheland. Last year's team was 19-0, and all the players of this year's team believed they could duplicate that record. Their top competition were games with Mountain View, Dobson, and Corona del Sol High Schools. Even though outside shooting, one of the few weaknesses of the team, maybe a problem at times, the girls expect to have a record season. Lisa Cheland added, "Our team has a lot of talent, and it shows out on the court, too."

The girl's freshman basketball team was also one of high success, coached this year by Mr. Schneider, the girls became the city champions. "Our success this year was mainly due to the fact that we had all its members playing hard all year. Members of this year's team were: Maria Garcia, Felleria Rodriguez, Christina Acosta, Natasha Nawethorne, Kim Chamberlain, and Melissa Chu. Although last year's team was made up of taller girls, they had an advantage of having more members this year.

This year's freshman girl's basketball team expects to be one of the best to be seen here at Marcos de Niza.

Said the girl's freshman basketball coach, Coach Schneider, "O.k., from square one let's try it again!"

A Word From Dr. Fitzgerald

The end draws near for our seniors as we close another year. It is too bad this year's seniors won't be able to use the new buildings we are planning.

A great addition to our campus will be an 800 seat divisible auditorium. This will allow our performing arts students to put on concerts and plays in a first class facility. We are looking forward to adding this at Marcos de Niza.

Also, we are planning a second gymnasium to better accommodate our many athletic teams. This will allow indoor practices, locker facilities, a training room, and restroom facilities to serve our football stadium.

The third addition to our campus will be two new science labs and eight additional classrooms for our math and science departments. The above additions will be of great benefit to Marcos in future years.

Dr. Gloria Smith, assistant principal, had many good things to say about this school year. "This shaped up into one of the most productive years ever!" She commented on how much more serious the students are as opposed to the past years.

Mr. Vic Sanchez, also an assistant principal at Marcos, has many responsibilities. He handles registration, class scheduling, discipline and much more. Mr. Sanchez says the main objective is to "Strive for your goals." Mr. Sanchez enjoys his job very much because he feels "The Students are GREAT!" He also says he loves working with the teachers and helping them with their jobs.

New employees this year in the cafeteria consisted of Luz Santiago, Marion Manes, the head cook, and Pat Smith, the assistant cook.

For Tony Chaverria security was very important. "I enjoyed working with young people and letting them know how important school was," explained Chaverria.

As for Barbara Escalante, the bookstore worker, working with students, parents and the school staff was what she enjoyed about her job. There are special classes here at Marcos de Niza that really aren't well known for what they are and what they stand for. These classes are the special education classes.

These classes do many activities that hardly anybody knows about because they are not as popular as DECA or the Ski Club.

So far, they've had a Bowling team, a Soccer team, in the summer they had a Swim team, and later on in the year they start Basketball again.

"These sports really help the students socially and emotionally, it improves their self esteem physically; plus it improves their physical stamina, and coordination," commented Mary Ellen Casselman a special education teacher here at Marcos, and one of their coaches.

There is a club called the SSS Club (Special Students Service Club) also. They support the Special Olympics program. By assistance with funding of uniforms, shoes, registration fees, Etc.

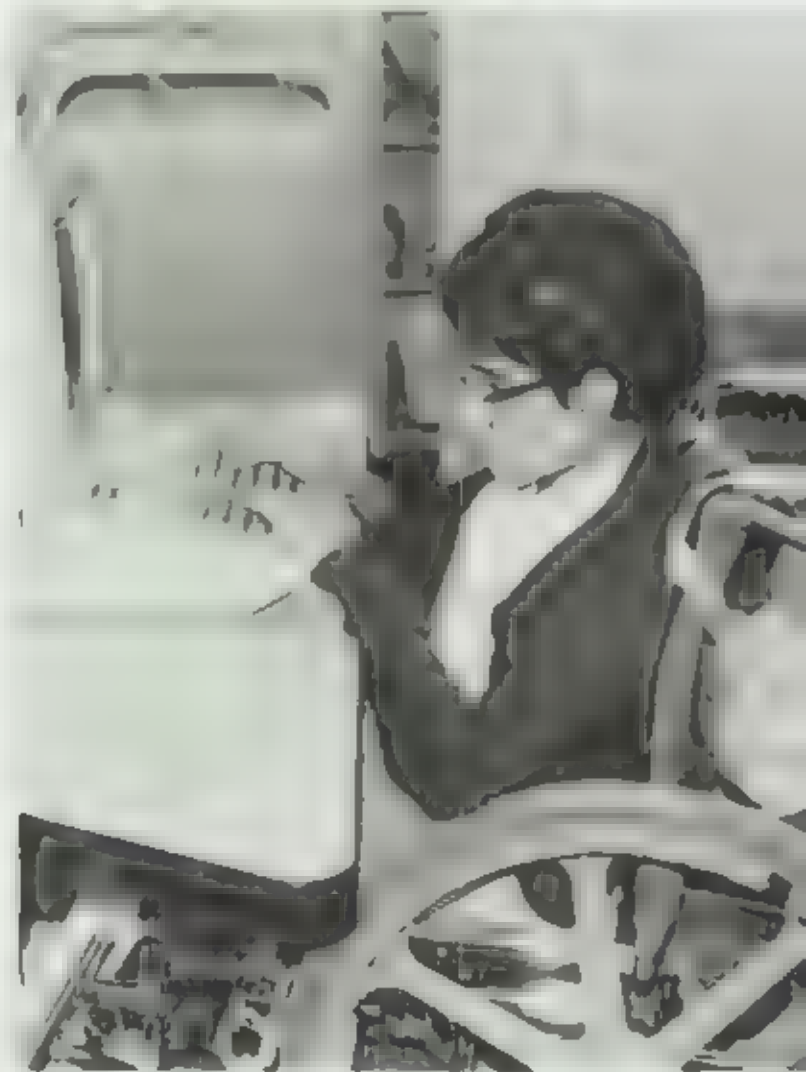

Some of the schools they compete against are, Desert Valley, Flagstaff, and Apollo, just to name a few.

Adding special events for these students helps to build friendships and excitement about the program.

Continued Commitment, Expansion Mark Math Year

With the growing use of computers, and the stricter math requirements for graduation and college, the math department has been met with renewed interest.

This year the department has met the needs by adding new classes, a math club, and a new math teacher.

Consumer math was added this year to help students with problems in math. It also gave these students operational math skills.

A new club was also put together in the math department. Headed by Mr. Anderson, Mu Alpha Theta was put together to provide a tutor service especially for students with math problems. The club is made of math students in the higher math classes, averaging a "B" or better. Mr. Anderson hopes to continue this club next year.

This year the Math department also added a new teacher. Ms. Sears was added this year to teach elementary algebra, and geometry. Ms. Sears came here from Hawaii and hopes to be staying for more years to come. "I had a very enjoyable year at Marcos the faculty was very friendly and supportive," stated Ms. Sears.

The Math department plans to continue its expansion by adding an honors math analysis next year. Due to its continued commitment to the students the math department plans to be the best it can be.

English Department Enforces 'Concepts Not Chapters'

No matter what career choice was made, English expresses basic skill. The English department featured skills which will be of use in future reference. English courses were primarily comprised of composition, literature, speech, and critical analysis. "The emphasis in teaching," according to department chairperson, Mrs. Watson,

The emphasis on teaching should be upon specific challenging ideas . . ."

Mrs. Watson

"should be upon specific challenging ideas rather than upon the total number of pages to be covered. 'Concepts not Chapters,' should be our vow." Future careers put more emphasis on composition skills. This year the English department tried to enforce this type of teaching from freshman to senior level, which may have had a positive effect upon written communication in the business world. A district guidebook was written and now acts as a format for the standard freshman through junior English courses. This guidebook applied to all four Tempe high schools. In addition, common text book series were chosen by the district to be used in all standard classes. Although there was a change in the curriculum, there were not any classes added, but next year, they were requiring a senior English program. This program will be planned very carefully so that it will include courses that will be of value to students of all levels of ability.

Business-Oriented Classes Teach Employment Skills

"Everyone needs a job and business classes offer basic skills needed for many jobs in the large field of business," Mr. Cosner stated. Some of the classes actually get students jobs and are pretty involved in the community, like DECA and COE for example. With these courses one can get on-the-job training and get paid at the same time. All in all, business classes can put you on the path to the working world.

"Taking business courses prepare students for jobs in the future and it puts them in a good job situation," commented Mr. Cosner, head of the business department. Taking a business class at Marcos makes students aware of the business field and teachers are aware of the way business trends change. No new teachers were added to the staff this year, also no new classes. The department just spruced up the old classes.

Some of the classes offered are typing, computers, COE, DECA, WP in

Language Provides Edge For Cultural Enrichment

With more students enrolled than ever this year, the Foreign Language Department started off strong. By offering four years of Spanish, German, and French, the students gained interest in learning a foreign language.

"We're currently building up our German program and are excited about adding Latin next year," stated French teacher Joann Pompa.

While pleased about the enrollment, the teachers stress that the knowledge of a second language is helpful in being accepted for certain jobs.

"I feel that foreign language enhances the students' outlook and allows them to compare their own cultures to others," says Patsy Ploog, Spanish teacher.

Spanish had added a new book which is titled Persona a Persona. Classes range from 1-2, which is first year, to 9-10, which is considered independent study. French classes range from 1-2 to 7-8, and German classes range from 1-2 to 3-4.

"Foreign language allows students to compare their own cultures to others."

The teachers from the Foreign Language department, Ferrini, Garcia, Glocker, Munoz, Ploog, and Pompa put a lot into making foreign language interesting for the students and it shows.

Requirements Renew Interest, Promote Greater Enrollment

"The state universities are continually increasing their requirements for admission," said Mr. Bud Rollins, Science Department Chairman. "Students who plan on going to college should take as much science, math and English as possible," he added.

Daryl Huber, a new teacher this year, is involved with the new Partnership Project between the business community and education.

"The purpose of the Partnership Project is to get more teachers involved with science and math," replied Huber.

"We hope to, first, give our students a solid foundation in the concept of science. Secondly, we strive to encourage students to develop critical thinking skills," added Rollins.

Courses offered this year are biological sciences, chemistry, and physics. The science department is growing because of the awareness of science and technology in our everyday life. "Parents want their children prepared for a successful future," said Rollins.

With the expansion of classes and a new curriculum of the social studies department, students had the opportunity to take a number of classes and obtain a more thorough education in the social studies area.

This year Global Studies was a new required class for all sophomores. "This course was a semester class in which students learned how the different countries react and work together. It was developed to give students an overview of how things work in world relations," said Mr. Bob Yniguez, the social studies department head.

Next year the department hopes for an even more involved curriculum for the school. As of this year there was only Honors Am. History taught by Mr. Draper. The department hopes to add more honors classes in addition to the current classes. An expanded faculty is also a hope for future years. This year the department was happy to have Mr. Dave Colborn added to the faculty to finish out the year for Mrs. Ralston.

"We just feel it's really important for students to be more aware of social issues, politics and world happenings. It's not only important to politics, but to students in their awareness of the world and it will give them preparation for college," commented Yniguez.

Luis Franco and Frolian Ruiz experiment in their chemistry lab.

A.K. Davids and lab partner work on perfecting their scientific skills.

Jennifer Mendez and Dawn Rainwater use the balance scale while they work on their lab in chemistry as principal, Mr. Fitzgerald looks on. Creativity Flourishes In Varied Artistic Endeavors

The art teachers at Marcos de Niza included Mr. Burnett, Mrs. McKeown; head of the department; and the newest member of the staff, Mrs. Payne. These teachers instructed a wide variety of classes in art-related fields such as; Art and Design, Basic Art, Ceramics, Commercial Art, Drawing, and Painting and Photography.

"With the increase of required classes there's a strain on electives and it's hard to attract students," claims Mr. Burnett. "Before there's a shortage, we have to use more of a personal touch."

The industrial arts included: auto, drafting, woods/metals, and also audio visual (A.V.).

These classes were taught by Mr.

Painter, Mr. Uchike, Mr. Villaverde and Mr. Adelman, with the help of Mrs. Herriman. An elective in the arts could help make a career choice for the future.

Junior Carol Vega said, "I've been taking art courses for the past three years and I've learned a lot — thanks to Mr. Burnett and Mrs. McKeown." She added, "Learning techniques and typography in Commercial Art are going to be of great help in advertising."

Bryan Klien concentrates on his work in welding class.

Skill Development Gives Needed Classroom Break

from being stuck in a classroom, and to let everything out was P.E." said Coach Weed

There was not any new equipment for the PE department, except, by the end of the year there was an all new weather track which will make running easier

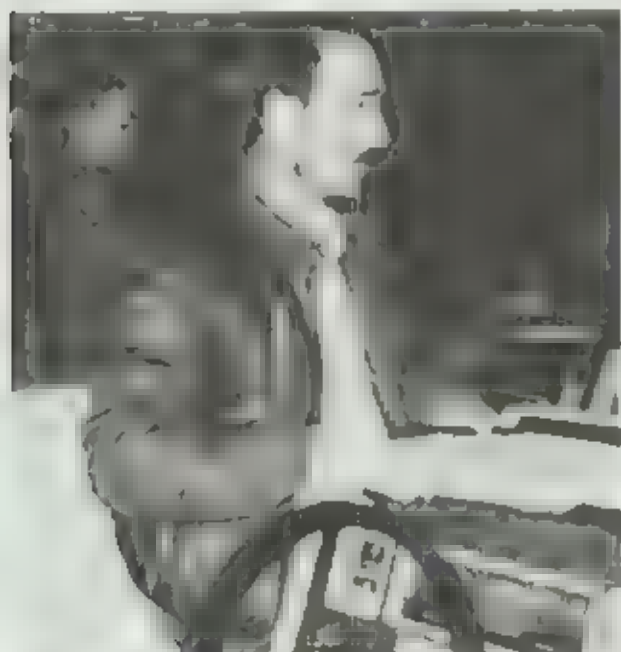

It open for freshman classes, but 153 sophomores, juniors, and seniors there was weight training and net classes that they took at their level. There were six teachers that taught five classes each. The coaches were: Weed, Dutton, Langford, Simmons, Hoke, and Caruso.

Mrs. Caruso also taught dance. It was another fun class, but also more serious. It was a time to learn a few new dances and poses.

Department Teaches Skills Students Need For Life

Home Economics was growing bigger and better each year. With the increase of classes and devotion of the teachers, this department was kept strong. The variety of classes such as Foods, Independent Living, Clothing, Interior Design, Personal Awareness, Human Relations, and Child Development gave students a variety of choices.

"With the increase of required classes, students did not realize that Home Economics was an essential to the way of living. They are skills that you learn and probably use for a lifetime," states Mrs. Crane.

"Mainly, most of our students wanted to make a future career out of the classes that most interest them while some took them for self improvement," quoted Mrs. Boydston.

A new addition to the staff of this department, Mrs. Lezlie Morris, enjoyed very much teaching here at Marcos de Niza. The help of Mrs. Boydston, and head of department, Mrs. Crane encouraged the students to choose Home Economics for an elective.

This department helped students strive for excellence. Personal growth could be achieved by "reaching for excellence through home economics." Mrs. Crane

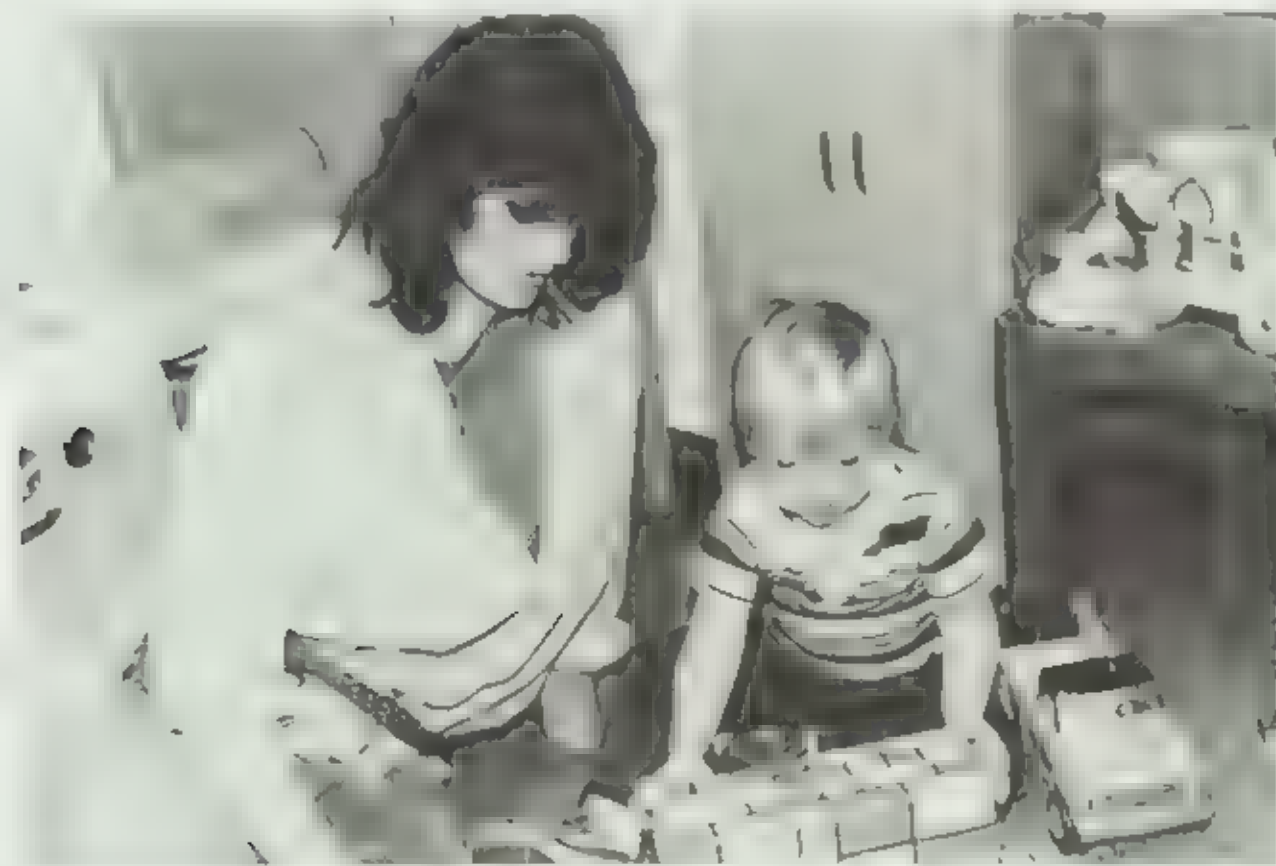

Home Economics helped the students with the aging process that helped you face reality and to mature in the right way. It gave you experience of activities that might happen while growing into an adult and the understanding of these activities.

Performing Arts Offers Talent-Building Experiences

The teachers of the performing arts department included: Mr. Rittenhouse, head of the department and the choir and Humanities teacher; Mr. Clement, band director; Mr. Jelinek, orchestra teacher; and Mrs. Partee,

"The department was not large but the quality was good." Mr. Rittenhouse drama and English teacher.

"The department was not large but the quality was good," commented Mr. Rittenhouse. "Teachers were always prepared and they have high standards of excellence." Many students took these courses to explore areas of interest or just for fun ... few go on after high school.

This year not as many students were enrolled in a performing arts class because the number of required classes was raised. "Kids did not have opportunities to take some of the classes they enjoy," remarked Rittenhouse.

The performing arts classes ranged from several different choirs, orchestra, band, and guitar where one could learn almost any instrument. Acting skills were also taught in Drama. "It's just good that students could have these kind of experiences while growing up," commented Rittenhouse.

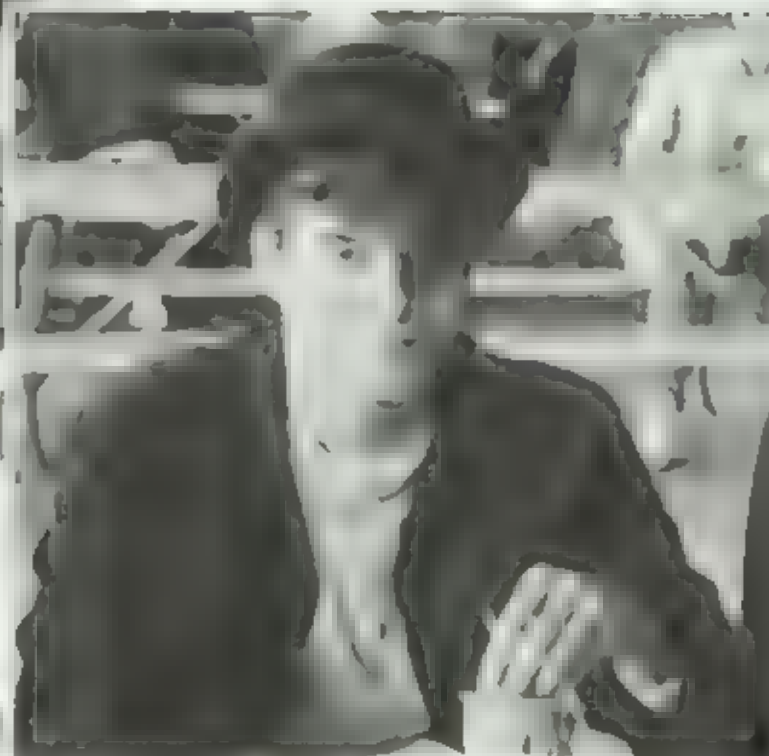

The students in A capella choir sing with enthusiasm at Parent Night. Chris McGrath tunes up and is ready to perform.

Senior Jeff Gregaree keeps the beat during his mock rock performance.

The students at Marcos de Niza became the center of all the activities this year. Throughout various events, each class strived to become the best class ever, showing their spirit and competing throughout the school year to earn class points to win the spirit stick.
Looking through the class pictures, one can see a variety of different looks and personalities to watch. There are both new and old faces at Marcos this year, but no matter who you happen to be, everyone can get involved and be a part of the excitement. With pride and spirit, students at Marcos de Niza made the 85-86 school year the best ever.

Class Of '87

Highlighted by the Junior Prom, the 1986 Junior class had an outstanding year. With skill and determination everyone worked together planning for the memorable event of the Junior/Senior Prom. Fund raising, such as candy sales, were put on throughout the year. The Junior class also sponsored the first dance held after the first football game which raised nearly five hundred dollars.

The class president, Lisa Davis, commented, "This year has been a lot of fun and everyone has been very supportive." Other class officers include Noralyn Payne, vice president; Linda Rios, treasurer; Anita Luera, secretary; Brett Hofmann, boys' representative; and Sam Thomas, girls' representative. "The officers this year were very enthusiastic, and the whole class tried to show a lot of school spirit," said Mrs. Burger, the junior class sponsor.

Although the Junior class didn't win too many class competitions, their dedication and pride still glowed. Those that did get involved gained

" the whole class tried to show a lot of spirit," Mrs. Burger personal growth and happiness along with many memories.

With a fun and fulfilling year behind them, the junior class was looking forward to their senior year and the responsibilities of continued leadership.

Variety Spices Life

Cathy Copple is an all-around junior, who says, "Why sit and watch TV when there is so much to get involved in?" Her interests include, DECA, newspaper staff, Tempe Sister City, Ski club and sometimes during the summer she is a candy striper for St. Luke's Hospital.

Copple's parents were the ones who got her interested in Tempe Sister City, and it was her friends who encouraged Copple to get into DECA. Both have paid off, she is the secretary of the Youth group and the president of her DECA class.

Being in Tempe Sister City she has met a lot of people and is planning on going to Germany this coming summer, her family has taken in a foreign exchange student from Brazil who was a senior and also attended Marcos this year.

Joining DECA, she has learned a lot about business and leadership qualities which will benefit her in the future plans. Copple likes the satisfaction of knowing she is doing things to help others and to help herself learn and along the way having loads of fun.

Her future plans are to go to Germany this summer after she graduates, take one year off, and travel to Switzerland or Germany and attend school there. When she returns, Copple plans to enroll at the University of California and pursue a career in advertising.

When asked what she did in her spare time she replied laughingly, "What spare time?"

Harp Challenges Smith

For junior Lezhe Smith, playing a "different" instrument is very challenging. Smith started playing the harp six years ago and said that playing the harp is very difficult.

"I wanted to play something out of the ordinary."

"I wanted to play something out of the ordinary, something no one else was doing," Smith started when she was nine years old and has been playing it ever since.

Even though the harp was not a popular choice among children her age, her parents and teachers were very encouraging and helped her in every way possible. They told her very early on in her lessons, "Never hide your talent."

Smith has played on several special occasions, a Christmas service, and for large festivals in Denver, Colorado. She hopes to make future performances also.

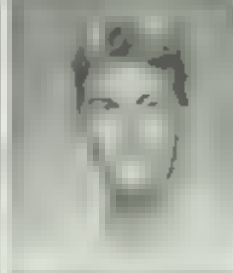

Smith has many goals for the future although she definitely plans to continue with the harp, she has hopes of playing with a widely known symphony, and hopes to give lessons on the harp and give encouragement to her students as she has been given throughout the years.

Smith knew she could meet the challenge of going against the norm. She confidently says, "If you're up to the challenge, it's well worth the effort."

Talent Sparks Dreams

Sixteen year old junior, Jackie Wellington, was new this year at Marcos de Niza. She moved to Tempe last summer from Dayton, Ohio.

Wellington's interest is singing. She became interested in singing because she wanted to be in the church choir and then make a possible career out of singing.

When asked who had taught her to sing, she stated, "Nobody really taught me to sing. It came naturally to me." For eight years, her mother and church members have been encouraging her to sing.

Wellington likes to sing pop and rock music. Soul is her favorite because it is popular and can have a special meaning to both the writer and the singer.

A few of the opportunities that singing has opened up for her are the possibility of becoming famous or perhaps a role model for future generations.

Although Wellington's awards from singing are not material, she gains a lot of self-satisfaction, and also receives many compliments. She enjoys singing and hopes her talent will help her become familiar with famous people, and become recognized among them.

Though Wellington has plans to go to college and major in law, her true dream is to put a successful band together.

Diving Inspires Kofka

Holding a good grade point average of 4.0 plus the remarkable effort and support on the diving team were important for Mike Kofka. Kofka, a junior, had accomplished more than pride for himself, but pride for Marcos.

The inspiration of his brother-in-law gave him the idea of diving. Kofka adds, "What first interested me in diving was the degree of risk involved. While watching the '84 summer Olympics, I was impressed with the degree of difficulty in the various dives."

When asked why diving, Kofka remarked, "When you do something with a high risk and execute it properly it's a great feeling that you really can't explain. I guess part of the challenge laid in the fact that this was an individual sport, and there's no one there to back up your mistakes as in football and other sports where you had a team effort."

"What really kept me in diving was the challenge."

With a team of only six in Kofka's first year, Kofka placed first in the divisionals and lettered. "What really kept me in diving was the challenge. You never fully perfect a single dive as there was always something that you needed to work on. You're constantly learning something new everyday," said Kofka.

Kofka had a lot of hopes and dreams for his diving career. When asked what his future plans were, he replied, "with a lot of dedication and hard work, I hoped to make the ASU diving team."

Modeling Opens Doors

For junior Kristy Vanney, graduating a year ahead of her class and being a member of the varsity pom line for the past two years had not been her only accomplishments.

Vanney has been employed with L'I-mage Casablanca Modeling agency since January of 1985, working an average of two days a week and earning twenty five dollars an hour or more.

She says that she got into modeling mostly for the self improvement, but after becoming involved she really began to enjoy it.

"My parents have really been the ones who encouraged me. They have helped, supported, and paid for everything."

After winning the title of Miss Teen

Arizona, Vanney appeared on Good Morning America, The March of Dimes Telethon, and recently competed in the International Modeling and Talent competition, receiving contract offers from Paris, Tokyo, Italy, Hawaii, and New York. This spring she will be traveling to a modeling agency in New York.

"Modeling is a neat experience. There is great pay, a lot of traveling, and you get to meet people from different places who are interested in the same things you are," she said.

In the future, Vanney says she hopes to travel around the world modeling, earn enough money to put herself through college, and become a psychologist.

"They did not make much money as a freshman class to carry over, so they had to work extremely hard," stated Miss Atlee, sponsor of the sophomore class. One example of their hard work this year was the memorable and profitable Coronation that they sponsored.

Besides developing leadership and increasing their responsibility, "student council was a great way to meet people," replied the officers of the class. They included: Brad Devar, president; Dan Henderson, vice president; Johnny Chin, treasurer; Lisa Ortega, secretary and Christy Sanders as the class representative.

Devar has been involved in student council since fourth grade. "My sister Vicki, had always been active in student council and therefore got me interested," Devar stated.

For the officers it was an opportunity to become more involved in their school and it, "let me know what was going on," added Lisa Ortega.

"This was an enjoyable year and a great experience for me," said Dan

Schuleit Sites Differences

Boris Schuleit a sophomore foreign exchange student from Denmark, has found that schooling in the U.S. is easier than in Denmark, except some problems with the English language. Boris came to the U.S. through the "Youth for Understanding" organization and hopes to learn more about the country and the English language. Although Boris had 5 years of English in Denmark, he says it wasn't the same as speaking the language every day. "I suppose it is like learning Spanish to you," comments Boris. "You really have to be in the country to understand it."

Back in Denmark, Boris enjoys Judo. He started 6 years ago with his cousin, and won many awards, including being "Danish Champion". He also has won another award in Germany. "I like to use my body in sports and I have met alot of people" remarks Schuleit. His host family has taught him to play raquetball, which he enjoys.

Boris plans to return to Denmark next year to continue his education and hopes to become a pilot someday.

Kori Stout displays her musical talents at playing the piccolo.

Music's My Life

For sixteen year old Kori Stout, music is her main interest. Stout played four instruments including piano, flute, piccolo, and bassoon this year. She started with piano eight years ago when encouraged by her mother. She later began band with the flute and moved to marching band with the piccolo. Bassoon was her latest interest which she played in concert band. Kori also teaches piano and has been teaching for the past 2 years.

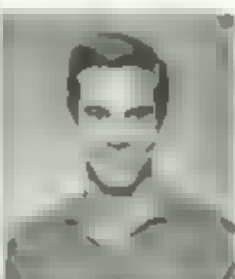

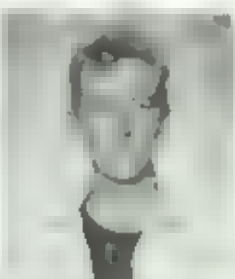

Kori has won several awards which include a runner up music award for a scholarship to NAU and best improved student with her piano teacher.

She was also a member of Tempe Honor Band and Tempe's Regional Band.

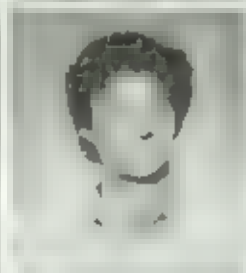

Stout feels that her music helped her to relax and express her thoughts clearly. When asked about music Kori replies, "Music helps me to relax and express myself in a different way."

Kori hopes to gain college scholarships and major in music. She looks forward to possibly attending Julliard University in New York City. Kori would also like to start learning oboe and clarinet soon along with her other instruments.

Reaching The Stars

For sophomore Bridget Bogar dancing on the "STARS" drill team has helped her gain self-confidence and poise. Two nights out of the week Bogar gives up two hours of her evening to practice her dancing skills. In return, she is able to perform at half-time shows for many football and basketball games. Bogar also competed in Utah's National '84 Jazz/Ballet dance competition. She took second place, an accomplishment which was well deserved.

When asked about this she commented, "dancing not only enables me to express myself, but is something I will enjoy for many years."

Bogar became interested in the Stars team after watching a performance at a Phoenix Suns Basketball game.

Thinking it would be a good experience she tried out for the team and was selected. Her instructor, Candice Huffaker, provided her with much encouragement through her past four years on the team.

As for Bogar's future she plans to continue on the Stars team until age 17 and then major in performing arts in college. Also excelling in English and Mathematics, Bridget hopes to enter the college of her choice, and to continue her dancing career. Bogar is optimistic in saying, "I look forward to college, using my dancing skills and knowledge to further my career in performing arts."

CLASS OF '89

A lot of enthusiasm and high spirit was what this year's freshmen class was all about. With the officers consisting of Nicole Young, president; Sherri Jenniges, vice president; Samara Miller, secretary; Gioia Pitts, treasurer, and Amy Timmons, girls' representative. "The freshmen were motivated and were excited about becoming students of Marcos," said the freshman class sponsor Mrs. Cardona.

The freshman class exhibited a great amount of spirit in their participation of class competition and they even won a few. "This attitude was a motivation force for any sponsor who wished to encourage and reinforce students," commented Mrs. Cardona

Although the freshmen did not have a lot of fund raisers, the ones they did have were very successful. The class hoped to not only have more activities but they planned to get involved in projects to improve both the school and the community.

"The freshman class exhibited a great amount of spirit..."

The class of '89 truly influenced the school with their spirit and enthusiasm and will hopefully mark the beginning of many years of personal growth and improvement

Young Promotes Spirit

School activities, student government, and sports are very important for freshman, Nicole Young. Coming from a sports-oriented family her interest was natural, but school activities and student government were different. "I feel it is more of a thrill to be active in school than just coming to school everyday," she said.

Young has been active in sports all her life and along with the support her family has given her, she has been self motivated. She has been interested in school government and activities since elementary school when she was first elected to a school office. In the eighth grade, Young was elected student body president and this year she was elected president for the freshman class. "I like being active in school because I like contributing to my school and helping others," she added.

Young's future plans are to become successful in either architecture, sports, or some sort of human relations work.

Young plans to continue with sports as a possible edge for higher education. She also realizes the benefit of leadership skills from student council and hopes to utilize them in her future.

Voice Helps Character

"Singing has helped develop my character," quoted freshman Brian Krueger. Five years has given him a good foundation for a rewarding future in singing.

In fifth grade Brian joined the Phoenix Boys Choir. When asked who encouraged him to sing, he told us that his parents were mainly responsible, along with his piano teacher and all of the choir performance directors he has worked under. His present director, John Smith, had motivated him through his four years as a member. Being in the Phoenix Boys Choir meant that Krueger was given the opportunity to travel so that he could sing for others. While speaking of the places he's been he said, "I guess New Orleans was the best."

Being one of only three freshmen in A capella choir, Krueger had also been accepted to the Madrigals, which was his goal this year.

To be accepted an audition was required and hours of practice was needed.

In the future, Brian plans to become involved in more local theatre productions and continue singing.

Celebrate

Farewell

Memories To Last Forever

Celebrate

*Celebrate!
Today is the beginning of forever
not of yesterday or tomorrow
it's now or never.
Dreams we share
no matter who you are ours to catch out there like a shooting star.
Dance and shout
live, love, laugh, to know,
reach out,
and learn a better way to go.
Our lives intertwine
in a most peculiar way
we grow and gain time
but we cannot stay.
Keep looking forward
don't ever turn back
the future will recompense
what the past did lack.
When the time comes to say good-bye
we must not be glum
but remember the "Hi's"
and the times we've shared together
Memories to last forever.*

by Danielle Tanner

Kristi Edwards and Donna Riley superdance the night away during the January telethon. Darryl Hillman springs to his feet as an enthusiastic cheerleader to impress the crowd during a spirit assembly.

Melissa Beamsley and Kelly Ray share their similar personalities through their beach club t-shirts.

From The Editor

Thinking of something to say for the farewell was a hard thing to do, when I realized that the whole purpose of a yearbook is to keep a record of all the activities and good times everyone had during the school year, and to keep the farewells from coming. No, this is not a farewell, but an invitation, an invitation everytime you open this yearbook to celebrate Marcos de Niza '86.
